

It's okay to fail, and it's okay to get discouraged. Those are normal things, especially for students in STEM. I've found that the most important thing is to keep reminding yourself why you're doing this.

Harriet Hunt

Aerospace systems engineer and NASA intern

THE GiST

Girls in STEM Toolkit

thegist.edu.au